

Guar Seed

NCDEX Guarseed continues to maintain a positive structure within a rising wedge, with prices sustaining above the 20 EMA and the broader rising trendline. After facing rejection near the ₹6,300–6,400 resistance zone, prices are witnessing some consolidation. The ₹6,000 level is an important immediate support and can be watched for price action. Sustenance above ₹6,000 can support a recovery towards ₹6,300, while a decisive breakout above ₹6,300 can open the way towards ₹6,500. On the downside, a break below ₹6,000 may extend the correction towards ₹5,700. Overall bias remains positive as long as ₹6,000 holds.

Guargum

NCDEX Guargum is currently showing a range-bound to mildly positive structure after recovering from the ₹11,300–11,600 support zone. However, prices are facing resistance near the descending trendline, while the 20 EMA is also acting as an immediate hurdle. A sustained move above ₹12,150 can strengthen the recovery towards ₹12,500, whereas failure to cross the trendline may keep prices under pressure. On the downside, ₹11,600 remains the immediate support; a decisive break below this level can drag prices towards ₹11,300. Overall, price action around ₹12,150 resistance and ₹11,600 support will be crucial for the next directional move.

Jeera

NCDEX Jeera continues to trade with a negative bias after facing rejection near ₹21,500 and breaking below the rising wedge structure. Prices are also trading below the 20 EMA, indicating weakening momentum. The ₹20,500–20,700 zone is now an important support area to watch. Sustenance above this zone can trigger a short-term recovery towards ₹21,150–21,500, while a decisive break below ₹20,500 can extend the correction towards the next support at ₹20,300. Overall, the bias remains negative below ₹21,150, with price action around ₹20,500 crucial for the next move.

Turmeric

NCDEX Turmeric has witnessed a strong breakout from the long-term Cup & Handle pattern, with prices sustaining well above the breakout zone near ₹19,300 and remaining above the 20 EMA, indicating strong bullish momentum. The ₹19,300 level now becomes an important support zone. Sustenance above this level can keep the positive structure intact, with the next resistance at ₹23,300, followed by ₹25,000. Any dip towards ₹19,300 that holds can indicate a healthy retest of the breakout, while a decisive break below this level may weaken the setup and bring ₹17,500 into focus.
